(C) THE CODEX (between Apr. 529 and Dec. 534)

Written in Latin, to which some new constitutions were added in Greek.
These law books persisted till the 10th century, when they were condensed into a Greek Code called BASILICA which lasted till 1453.

BELISARIUS

A general under JUSTINIAN

530 - he gained a victory over the Persian Army twice as large as his own.

He put down a rebellion in favor of a new emperor HYPATIUS

He put 30,000 of the rioters at Constantinople

534 - He gained Africa from the VANDALS and took King GELIMER prisoner.
He also took Sardinia and the Balearic Islands on his way home.

535- He was made CONSUL

535- He conquered SICILY

536 - Conquered all cities of southern Italy except Naples.

He entered into Rome & held it for 1 yr against the Goths. He drove the Goths to Ravenna and took their king VITIGES prisoner. He was recalled by Justinian before the work was completed

545- He was sent to expel Goths from Italy. His Army was too small. no reinforcements. In 548 he gave up command & returned home. His wife NARSES was appointed. In 563 he was accused of conspiracy by Justinian. It is said that his innocence was proved & he was restored to full honor.

THEODAHAD was elevated to the position of king and co-ruler.

Both wrote to the emperor to gain Constantinople's recognition.

But he wasted no time, THEODAHAD arrested the Queen in the last weeks of 534, removed her from Ravenna to confinement on an island in Lake BOLSENA.

On April 30, 535 she was no longer

alive

(483-565) JUSTINIAN I (FLAVIUS ANICIUS JUSTIANUS) Emperor of Byzantine or Eastern Roman Empire (527-565). JUSTIN I, his uncle, took him to Constantinople and educated him until 527 when he made a colleague as emperor. A few months later, Justin I died and Justinian reigned alone. His reign was the most brilliant in the history of the Byzantine Empire. BELSARIUS & NARSES as the generals did much to make it so.

They conquered the Vandals in Africa; drove the Goths out of Italy; withstood the Persians; and survived the attacks of the HUNS on the North. He built extensively, especially the Church of St. Sophia, and made a great name through the compilation of laws known as the Code of Justinian and which were ~~people~~ published under the name PANDECTS in 529. These were followed by the Institutes of Justinian.

Ostrogoths

ATHALARIC died.

Theodoric the Great was father of his mother.

AMALASUNTHA (his mother) was made
Co-regent with THEODAHAD.

THEODAHAD murdered her.
